THE SEASON OF SPRING FEVER

new Hickmautes have spring fever. There are special times when Smallpox is a winter disease, but fever comes in the summer and yellow fever flows from the frost. The new world of science which some modern Columbus have discovered, confirms the assertion of inhabitants of the world with a pit, particular variety. One variety thrives best in the winter while cold is fatal to its growth. Another comes to maturity in the torch of winter winds and are some, every year, in the which bloom perennially.
Whether the frost in the winter water the fever in summer's dormant. The culture of the germ of disease or despite climatic conditions of the year's changing Even there, however, grow upon favoring food and convenient season. Spring is an annual attack. It is dangerous in the hour when the flooded by the tree's hydraulically to the bell and boy and Yet this queer ailment, which is to the brain and heart, is latest in other months. It is misleading to this extent in its harvest time that it is in its other days.

The medical books, the grim larval of the human organism in state description of spring fever is not catalogued with the other diseases and numerous life which is to be. The grave and disease is not regard it a curable, certainly not dangerous in degree. There is a paragraph in the Anatomy of Melancholy which refers to the disease under the name but the wise and witty Bacon was not a physician any school have experience. The doctors do prescribe the spring disease which clear the blood and take the patient from the April complexion. Sassafras tea was a favorite spring beverage in the pioneer days.
The good housewife made it as refreshing as the spring equinox approached, a sweetly colored drink which thinned the blood and reduced the fever's inflammation and member of the family must take a daily dose of generous rose hip medicine has crowded the sassafras and other stuff. The spring medicine as well as the spring vegetable has been to ward off disease. It is stimulative and palatable. Mother nature who understands man better than man yet does, has prepared in the great earth laboratory balm for every wound, poison for every disease. It would be strange if spring fever has no antidote or cure in the Mother Nature's shop of Mother Nature.
The universal appetite for green things in the spring is a form of herbivorous medicine. The greens upon which commons and in the fields country hills are remedies.

WHAT IS SPRING FEVER
The definition worthy of the name has not been given to spring fever.
The encyclopedias of the medical doctors gave a technical description which express in learned terms its remote effect upon the human body but this is not a complete description. In fact the bodily consequences of the fever which the spring season brings are the least of it. The brain and the heart are the chief sufferers. The tired brain of this framework which serves as laboratory for the intellect and the affections will sometimes suffer from arduous toil. The spring life is difficult amid the rush of dawn spring. Understand in the usual encyclopedic definition is the consequence to the mental man. Brain is clogged and clouded in the springtime. The lover with intellect wishes to quit his effort and go out into the woods and leaf. He must lash his brain to new duty, drive it under the superior command of iron will to take task unwillingly, and therefore poorly done. Was ever great work of literature born while the spring of spring was on the world?
The poetry? Yes, the effort of the poet which tastes of the half-awake earth, the unspiced salad of the more, but not the noble epic immortal. Man's brain is fagged in the springtime. The earth turns over and rubs its eyes and finally putting up draws its morning gown green around its bare, brown body.
Literature in the spring months puts its eyes and wears a halfawakened look. Much of the brain's output needs frost or summer life to make it sparkle.

Spring fever is also an affection of the heart. No other disease plays so potently upon the emotions.
The old rhyme comes trippingly on every tongue.

In the spring, the young man's face is likely to be the first to show the effects of the disease.
And, of course, in this instance, young man is meant to include young woman, or, better still, embrace her. No psychologist making a map of the mind and analyzing the processes of the heart, has ever successfully set forth the causes for this building of the emotions in this season. Love-making, like Death and other dangers, has all seasons for its own. But love is particularly lively in the days of spring.
The birds mate in the trees and the young men's speech is with a melody beneath the bowers. Happy the young people who can turn the current of spring fever into the gentle stream of marriage. Spring fever is provocative of either love or laziness and sometimes both.
The scientist who has trained practically every disease to microscopic bacteria hidden in mysterious recesses of man's nature, is making in the springtime an art, as not yet laid down of discovery upon the microscope which causes love. Surely, there is one. It hovers above the head in these glowing days of early summer, it is hailed with every breath of the blazy air of May, and attacks at noon with serious consequences the heart of man and maid.
It causes her to blush and him to be brave before a mirror. It lends a delicate hue to the landscape and tinted the very atmosphere tremble

PEACE OR WAR--THEY ALWAYS COME HERE

with a melodious melody. Who knows that this may be the secret which the great spiritual of the twentieth century has, however The disease, which is a thousand in its last, will not be nearly so famous and worthy of praise as his the right direction. With the coming of the new science the drug stores may sell love microbes, already cultured and ready for work.

In separate jars may be kept an antidote, a kind of virus for vaccination against affection. The unmarried man teaching in a girl's seminary may thus be inoculated and made proof against the wiles of woman and the cranky old bachelor, apparently impervious to all attacks of love, might be fed, unknown to himself, upon the proper microbes and a proposal of matrimony be the result. Cupid's occupation would be gone, or, rather, Cupid's arrows would become articles of commerce and every woman could have a bow.
There is danger from all discoveries of science that in the hands of untrained and inexperienced persons experiments are unsafe. There might be issued a license to sell love microbes as is now required for permission to dispose of poisons and dynamite. This would lessen the danger of possible mishaps. The little girl is blind now. It would not do to increase his power and leave him blind and unrestrained.

THE BLUE SKY FEVER

No affliction exists which may not be turned with proper philosophy to treatment to benefit. Even spring fever has its value. It has been said to be promotive of wooing and wedding without which much of the happiness of the world were left unutilized. It also causes humanity to take to the woods. In the fall time man goes into his house and shuts himself up. There is a long stream of him beginning earliest in the furthest north and ending latest in the land of sun and roses. In the springtime this procession is reversed and man, after months of inactivation in house of wood or brick or stone, goes out a free man into fields and lanes. We are living too far away from nature. The artificial has taken the place of the natural. We have been taught to keep off the grass until we have almost come to believe that closeness to nature degrades. In reality it elevates, exalts and inspires. The Antaeus, who rose refreshed and strengthened for another conflict up on touching the earth upon which he fell, is a type of the world. The stream of men and women who go to the park on Sunday afternoon or to the woods beyond bringing back a bag of soil that strengthens and builds up. Man lives too much indoors. He draws the raiment of his dwelling house about him and becomes a bookish hermit. He needs the coaxing hand of spring, the caressing touch of early summer days to persuade him forth.

In this way he clears away the cobwebs which have enriched his brain and softens the selfish crust which has grown up around his heart.
The blue sky cure is better than the blue grass cure.

DUTY OF LAZINESS AND LOVE

The value of spring fever is the value which attaches to cleaning house, to driving out of doors, to making love, being lazy judiciously.
All fevers are disturbers of the blood, conflagrations in the human constitution. This fever is the best of all and most valuable. After the lapse of winter it comes with him and prophecy of harvest. It is the resurrection-disease. Other ills and ailments suggest dissolution and decease. This promise of life and hope.
For those who read aright its lessons and utilize the inspiration which it brings it has an effect not unwholesome. It is good to be lazy a while in the bubbling days of spring, to sip the sweetness of the year's beginning instead of gulping it down at one greedy draught. The man who does not know how to be lazy because misses a joy of life for which no other pleasure may atone.
It is house cleaning time for the body as well as for the wooden house outside the body where we have dwelt the winter through. We need to clean house sometimes although the process, delightful to the women folks who are the housekeepers, is painful to the man who boards at home. It is a excellent to get the microbes from the carpets and the cobwebs from the brain. Nor should the value of love-making be forgotten in this final estimate.

"Enjoy the spirit of love and youth, To some good thing leaves the best."

The admonition is profound philosophy. These grumpy papas and matchmaking mamas who insist upon strictest decorum about love-making and would postpone marriages until late in life have forgotten their youth, need a real old fashioned attack of spring fever, sending them head over head in love, and causing their fancy to turn not lightly but with the rush of spring torrent to thoughts of the Dearest One.

Two robins are building their nest in a maple tree just outside the house. They chit away in a language which only they may understand. The nest is fast coming to completion and little Mr. Robin looks wise at me as from his leafy porch he cocks his head to one side as though to say "Oh, don't you wish you were as happy and care free as we!" The saucy little creature has the spring fever. He has gone out of doors, is building him a nest and enjoying the spring of love and youth.

WHAT IS WORTH HAVING

The morning season of the year has its lesson of light heartedness.
It teaches that the care and anxiousness of life may be brushed aside if we know the magic wand which makes them leave. We take ourselves too seriously most seasons of the year. We regard the trivial things of life as of tremendous consequence forgetting that there is really but little of permanent value.
So when spring fever comes, this curious disease which draws us out of doors for cure and treatment, we find that of most consequence is fresh air and blue sky and the little lady's love and, having these, the whole may come and go unheeded.
It takes the May sunshine to blot out the wrinkles on our brains and clear away the gray of winter from our lives and hearts.

YOU can be umpire in our good-clothes match if you'd like to; and we'll get the decision as soon as you look at the score we're making. Every point is honestly earned.

The grand jury brought in seven, teen indictments and returned warrants to meet at Fulton Tuesday.

Four Commonwealth cases were returned with alias summons for each defendant.

The case of Commonwealth vs. Scrap, on a charge of carrying concealed deadly weapons, was dismissed. The defendant, a negro, has died since the last term of court.

Commonwealth vs. Ed Jewell et al., dismissed. The defendants were charged with trespass. The sheriff had locked up the house belonging to defendant at Jordan and the defendant broke into it.

Commonwealth vs. Wash Stinner, charged with rape, resulted in hung jury, and jury discharged.

Commonwealth vs. John Adair, charged with rape, jury failed to agree and was discharged.

W. W. C. Parks, forgery, two years in Reformatory School. This young man forged the name of J. J. Gault, superintendent of the F. C. R. at Fulton, when endorsement to a check.

Commonwealth vs. Bill Miller, appeal from quarterly Court, charged with carrying concealed deadly weapons, $25 fine and ten days in jail.

Commonwealth vs. Dr. Stafford, continued. He is charged with practicing without license.

The grand jury failed to indict Silas Johnson, charged with murder, and the case was re-referred to the next grand jury.

The suit of P. S. Taylor vs. the Singer Mfg. Co. was dismissed, settled.

Fred Hayden vs. W. H. Badger, suit for timber. Plaintiff awarded judgment for $25. This suit has been in litigation for some time.

Hickman Grain Co. vs. Tom Bragg, judgment for plaintiff for $86.24. This suit was on corn contracts. The market price of corn was higher than the contracted price, and the defendant failed to deliver his corn.

The republicans are now laying the blame of Goebel's death on us. It will work out all right. In the end, for the Governor will certainly pardon Mr. Powers.

Money for Former Slaves.

Former slaves or their heirs are to be benefited to the extent of a million dollars if a bill favorably reported by the House Committee on Banking and Currency becomes a law. The measure, which has been in congress many years, has passed the senate.

It is based upon the claims of former slaves who lost money deposited in the Freedmen's Bank, which was established in Washington for the benefit of negroes soon after the close of the civil war. The bank failed after a brief existence and for more than thirty-five years the negro depositors or their heirs have been trying to induce the government to reimburse them.

We Should Have It.

"Nothing doing" that is in the amusement line. No fairs, no Fourth of July celebration, no carnivals, no bazaar shows, street fairs, circuses, etc., for Hickman. Why not have something? Hickman is getting too large to play the country village. Our people are akin to the rest of humanity—and what town around us has so little public amusement? None. We want folks to come to Hickman occasionally for some other purpose than to buy goods. You know "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." You may think a day of fun and hilarity will be a loss of one day's business. What if it is? If you can't exist without the loss of one day's business—its your move. Let's wake up to something beside the continuous chase of the Almighty dollar. We'll live longer, be happier and carry just as much wealth to the other world if we lose a day now and then.

New Dynamo Installed.

The Hickman Ice & Coal Co. has installed a new and larger dynamo to take care of the fan circuit. The dynamo used for this part of the business last year was not large enough to handle all the fans satisfactorily. The new machine was put in the latter part of the week and is now in service.

Deboe Loses His Fight.

The Republican State Central committee at Louisville Thursday decided the contests from the First district favorable to the Taft wing of the party, which means that Senator Deboe lost everything; that J. C. Speight is State committee man for this district and Jerry M. Porter the nominee for congress.

By oversight last week, we failed to mention a surprise party given Percy Jones and wife on Friday evening, April 24, by a large number of Hickman's young folks. Refreshments of ice cream, and cake, and candy and cigars were served. The feature of the evening was a mock marriage ceremony which was carried out in a very impressive manner by the contracting parties.

E. E. Reeves' buggy horse went mad Sunday and had to be killed. The horse acted strangely Saturday, and Sunday was raving mad. He fought everything that came near him, biting himself, the barbed wire fence and everything he came in contact with. Late Sunday afternoon, he kicked and pawed a side of the barn down. Anno one could get to him to right limb amputated and fearing that he would break out and hurt someone, Mr. Reeves had to shoot him. He had hydrophobia.

Dave Hopkins, age 60 years, and a prominent citizen of Mississippi county, Mo., was brought to Hickman, Saturday, for the purpose of having his right limb amputated. The operation was performed Monday by Drs. Curdin, Hubbard and Blackford. The bone in his limb was decayed from his ankle to his hip, the result of an injury he sustained many years ago. His leg was taken off just above the knee, and the patient is in a very critical condition. He is at the home of Robert Maynor.

A Word About Masonry.

Masonry entered Ireland in the early part of the eighteenth century, and the only woman who ever belonged to the order was a daughter of the Emerald Isle. She was the Honorable Mrs. Richard Aldworth—Elizabeth St. Leger, who hid in a cloak to overhear the proceedings of a meeting, and was made a member as the only means of preserving the secrets she had learned. Scotland has the oldest lodge now in existence. It is Mother Kilwinning Lodge, in which there are minutes showing meetings in 1559. The highest Scotch aristocrats were connected with Masonry as far back as records go. The first grand masters in America were Daniel Cose of Burlington, N. J., appointed by the duke of Norfolk as provincial grand master of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, and Henry Price of Boston, appointed provincial grand master of New England "and dominions thereto belonging." In his day, Benjamin Franklin was a grand master and visited the grand lodge in England. As in the past, royalty and nobility are connected with Masonry today. King Edward of England is past grand master, and his brother, the Duke of Connaught, is now a grand master. In the lodge room king and commoner are of equal rank if their degrees are the same. President Diaz of Mexico and President Roosevelt are Masons, but President Roosevelt has taken only three degrees. The late President McKinley was a Templar.

A soup ladle and a joint fork will give a jaunty effect if used as hatpins.

Both ladies and gentlemen are out of style without a red necktie. They are all the rage with those who want to be on the side of latest fashion. To be without a red necktie is to be out of fashion.

Brownsville.

Mrs. Jane Jones is on the sick list this week.

Several persons from Hickman attended services here Sunday.

The F. E. and C. U. of A. will give a strawberry supper at Graves School House Monday night, May 17th. All members are invited to be present.

There was all day service and dinner on the ground at Brownsville Baptist Church last Sunday. It was well attended, and everybody seemed to enjoy the service very much.

Rev. C. P. Glover, of Woodland Mills, delivered a short address to a very attentive audience at Brownsville Church Sunday morning, and Rev. Jerry Brannham, of Nashville, Tenn., preached in the afternoon. Rev. Brannham is only fourteen years of age, but is an excellent preacher. Rev. Bowles, of Martin, preached at 7:45 p. m.

Within a few days a hawk's head will be worth $1 to all men who present it to a Kentucky County Clerk. The law was passed at the last session of the Legislature, having been introduced by Representative Henry Dedham, of Monroe and Metcalf counties. It carried with it no emergency clause, but the law will be in full force and effect after ninety days from the date on which it was passed.

Eld. J. J. Castleberry, pastor of the First Christian Church at Union City, will preach at the Christian Church in Hickman tomorrow (Friday) night. Eld. Castleberry is an able preacher and as this is his first sermon in Hickman he should have a good crowd.

Eld. J. F. Gilmer, of Pittsburg, Pa., preached two excellent sermons at the Christian Church in this city Sunday. He will preach at the same place next Sunday morning and evening. Everybody turn out and hear him.

John Tanner Killed.

John Tanner was shot and instantly killed by Alva White, at 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning, near Phillip's Mill in Obion county, Tenn., about 14 miles southwest of Hickman. The killing seems to be the outcome of a friendly scuffle and too much bad whiskey while attending a dance at a neighbor's.

It is said that neither of the young men had any ill feeling toward the other until White became intoxicated and got mad because Tanner got the best of him in the scuffle. He tried several times to cut Tanner with a pocket knife, cutting his clothing in a number of places, but Tanner offered no resistance more than self-protection, as he knew White was drinking.

The dancers were leaving for their homes when White followed Tanner out and renewed the trouble again. Tanner still paid no serious attention to White's threats, until the latter drew a gun and fired. The ball entered Tanner's breast causing instant death.

White guarded the corpse of his victim until about daylight and then fled into Lake county. He was captured later and is now in jail at Tiptonville.

Both men are said to belong to good families, and the tragedy is indeed very unfortunate. If reports are true, whiskey alone is the cause of White murdering his friend.

To Amend Stock Ordinance.

An amendment has been introduced in the city council to amend Art. 7, Sec. 1, of stock ordinance, relative to the running at large of "milk cows"—which by the way seems to include anything from month old calf to a drove of "dry" cattle.

The amendment is to keep cattle out of Hickman, bounded on the north by the river, on the south by the ravine, east by the street running north and south which is on the west of W. A. Dodds' place, and on the west by the street running north and south which is east of Squire B. T. Davis' home.

This will be a good and equitable measure.

Richard Metheny, aged about 35 and residing in the lower bottom, 12 miles from Hickman, died at his home Saturday. Burial at Poplar Grove, Sunday. Deceased is survived by a wife and children.

ROUND THE CAPITAL

Information and Gossip Picked Up Here and There in Washington.

Cultured Indian Guests of Senator

WASHINGTON—Senator Warren of Wyoming accepted the winter visit of his colleagues the other day by taking with him to lunch in the senate restaurant a party of Indians belonging to the tribe of the Arapahoe and the Shoshone. The red men were in Washington transacting business with the interior department and passing their respects to the great white father at the executive mansion, as well as to his prospective successor across the way in the war department.

Proof that the Indians are taking on the ways of civilization was to be seen at Warren's lunch function. Instead of eating for forked beef and bear meat the feathered and blanket warriors sat down to a table of delicacies. What is more they ate pie with forks which is more than can be said for every white person that appears at the senate's command. Also they used napkins as they should be used and did not mistake them for handkerchiefs or towels. They partook of champagne and mock turtle and even showed a familiarity with the use of the glass which has been known to many of their white brethren.

Great was the astonishment of persons who observed them to see that they seemed to be in terms of good acquaintance with the menu card of the pale face. Little Wolf of the aged chief of the Arapahoe, who is said to be well toward a hundred years old, and whose countenance is weathered and wrinkled, wasn't a bit abashed and went through his part of the performance with as much ease that grace as if he had been a debutante fresh from finishing school at pink tea. Yellow Dog was as suave as a diplomat, and never once tried to cut his teeth with his knife. Senator Warren himself was surprised and was obliged to call forth his best Massachusetts avenue manners to keep pace with his guests.

Some of those that saw what happened wondered if the Arapahoe and Shoshone all are as polished as the party with Senator Warren. Just think of one of Fenimore O'Connor's Indians eating pie and salad, eating for champagne and using a napkin and a fork! It was developed, however, that most of those in Senator Warren's party had been in the states and had not spent all their lives in the tepee and on the plains.

Pages Cause of Sneezing Fit in House

THIS morning the house was riled on the wing with impressive signs of the cold day when Representative "Toby" Stansbury, rising to address the speaker, began to sneeze that statesmanlike sneeze which generally precedes a moment of address in the visitors gallery.

Mid in this sneeze he did not at all the time that he is rattled by the first forward movement of the hand points of his eyebrows went up the flame of a ribbon girl, the corners of his mouth were drawn down in the spite attempt to maintain composure, and after a moment of painful hesitation he let go a sudden sneeze.

A trifle of laughter shook over the house, and even Senator Canine, as the gentleman Mr. Stansbury, at once showed the courtesy of an acknowledgment of his own weakness.

Another member rose, but in the heat of his sneeze he did not at all the time that he is rattled by the first forward movement of the hand points of his eyebrows went up the flame of a ribbon girl, the corners of his mouth were drawn down in the spite attempt to maintain composure, and after a moment of painful hesitation he let go a sudden sneeze.

Quentin H. Roosevelt, an old senator, has just sent the roses of the White House to the milk tops of the city. The milk tops of the city are the milk tops of the city.

Younger Men Rapidly Filling Senate

THE proportion of young men in the senate is growing rapidly. The number of oldtimers is dwindling steadily. Recent months have removed two of the oldest of the oldtimers, Senators Morgan and Whyte. While Senator Patton was of advanced age, he was not old in point of senate service, so that he can hardly be considered in this connection, despite the fact he was 66 at the time of his demise.

His seven senators have served for three terms, or a period equivalent to three terms. They are Senators Allison: Hale, of Maine; Fife, of Maine; Aldrich, of Rhode Island; Culham, of Illinois; Teller, of Colorado, and the lot of Virginia. Senator Allison entered
